

Introduction

My name is Brent Evans. I am a web designer. I create solid web designs that keep clients coming to your business. My designs utilize HTML, CSS, Java Script, Flash, PHP, and jQuery depending on what is needed to complete the site. If you have ideas that you haven't seen done before, don't be afraid to ask. With your ideas and my dedication to solving problems, I am sure that your ideas will become reality.

Marketing ideas are not beyond us at Brentastic Designs. Here are a couple of design proposals created for Welch's drink products.

Billboards

Description:

Billboard ad with easy to read messages to accommodate for traveling viewers. The drinks form two sides of a triangle that has the image of a small girl as its point. The two phrases form stairs to the top. The top ribbon is used by Welch's today on their site.

Description:

Billboard ad with easy to read messages to accommodate for traveling viewers. This ad has a bottle of Welch's juice in the center of the ad with a baby thinking about it on the left and an adult female faded in the background thinking about it on the right. There is a pile of vegetables behind the baby. The ad is to show that by feeding the baby Welch's juice, the baby will grow up to be a beautiful adult. The female is thinking about drinking the juice as well.

Additional Promotions

Description:

This promotion was to go on shopping bags. There was a push in California for everyone to re-use their shopping bags instead of tossing them in the trash. This decorative bag would draw attention to the Bowers Museum and be sturdy enough to carry groceries. The line "Take away more than just a good time" goes well with a shopping bag even though it is referring to taking away knowledge.
